DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's arguments filed on 10/26/04 have been fully considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because they disclose a claimed invention is an abstract idea as defined in the case In re Warmerdam, 33, F.3d 1354, 31 USPQ2d 1754 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

Analysis: Claims 1-20 found to be in technological art since the invention is to practice by using a computer. Since the claims are each a series of steps to be performed on a computer the processes must be analyzed to determine whether they are statutory under 35 U.S.C. 101

Examiner believes that the claims are non-statutory because they are not new and useful. They are simply disembodies data structure and method of making it. The claims does not involves no more than manipulation data definitions and data declaration with bunch of identifiers in programming environment. Applicant present no substance upon which the claimed invention acts and on this basis its functionally can be realized even in tangible medium. Thus, claims 1-20 are non-statutory and rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101.
